

SPECIAL!

*WINTER Fly Drive
Adventure*

Fly from Fairbanks to Coldfoot, north of the Arctic Circle surrounded by the Brooks Mountain Range. The flight will provide an aerial view of the vast Alaska wilderness. On land, ground tour south along the famed Dalton Highway. Receive a guided ground tour from your guide and learn about the natural and cultural history of the region. Stops will be made to get out and see close up different aspects of Alaska's Arctic. Upon the return to Fairbanks all guests will receive an official Arctic Circle Certificate

Thu., 11 February - Departs 12:00 noon / Return Approx. 11:00 - 12:00 am

Fri., 12 February - Departs 1:00 pm / Return Approx. 10:00—11:00 pm

Sat., 20 February—Departs 2:30 pm / Return Approx. 12:30—1:30 am

Tour Price: $219 per person. Includes flight from Fairbanks to Coldfoot, ground tour from Coldfoot to Fairbanks on the Dalton Highway, and an Arctic Circle Certificate. Meals are not included—guests may bring food with them and/or purchase a sack lunch meal from Coldfoot. Time in Coldfoot is limited; however, guests can purchase their sack lunch and/or cup of soup to go. After Coldfoot there is no place to purchase food until you are back in Fairbanks.

This is a tour itinerary not usually available during the winter months. Guests will have the opportunity to not only see Alaska's frozen Arctic from the air, but will be able to enjoy the guided ground tour all in one day.
